

Corona virus, distance, spring and new positives...

Whether we thought in the last year, when first forced were to go on t distancing work, studies, limitation in relation to moving, communication and others like its, that over and over (and it already in third times) will experience new and new emotions, obstacles and losses concerning the pandemic of corona virus, that compel us to search all another ways of improvement and changes of the vital space. And it is yet not end. Because for the prognoses of world specialists, scientists and virologists, humanity will be able really to lead and get along at the processes of mutation of corona virus only to the end of 2021. Therefore it is stopping of distance is not yet on time... But we must be optimists, because life proceeds, despite on anything!

Someone will ask: «And what is here positive»? And it is just need to search in it, that we became more and more attentive is not only to ourselves and our health, but also to the most native people, acquaintances, partners on business, colleagues, simply to the neighbors in a line, to sit down in a transport and, on the whole, to our environment. Someone from us quite laid hands on all methods of the controlled from distance studies, beginning from Skype, ZOOM and, ending, Google Meet. Someone in times of the controlled from distance stay in one place, instead of long duration moving on a transport from one end of city in other, to get to the work, did that put aside the to best times: wrote a monograph, mastered to perfection a foreign language and passed an exam on B2; did the new opening in relation to influence of corona virus on all spheres of our life. As they say: “There would not be happiness, if unhappiness did not help»! And it is yet not limit, because the human phenomena and possibilities yet to the end are not investigated. We became undoubtedly forced, more proof, hard-tempered, flexible, experienced specialists, which value every instant of the existence.

Hope that a coming spring will bring to us only kind and light hopes. Whole all are finished, and this pandemic will make off too. It is necessary only not to lose our energy, to fight with it all those methods that nature provided with us. And also it is needed to remember the Shevchenko principles: «Fight and will winners»!

We sincerely thankful to all our colleagues, authors, reviewers, who are not in this simple times of pandemic supported us the articles, wishes and recommendations in relation to further development of our magazine. Undoubtedly, we very value all positive and negative reviews; we change and try to hold a course in relation to passing of magazine to the «A» category. For the reason of it we attract the more articles, that is prepared by English, that must promote regulations of magazine, quality of the given material and possibility to bring over international specialists and scientists to opponent of the articles.

Wish to all the good health, optimistic look in the future, successes in the begun businesses, inspiration and unceasing desire to arrive at the unattainable tops of the life! We will always ready to advice, support and help you in this kind, bright on event businesses and to shine your successes on the pages of our edition. Creative position to us all and achievement of all put tactical and strategic tasks.